University Guide to Student Behavior

9.1 Introduction

RAKMHSU stands for the human dignity and worth of every person and believes therefore, in values that foster the human respect needed for people to live, work, study and recreate together as a community.

These values require that everyone at the university make an effort towards building a community that will be known for love of truth, active care and concern for the common good and selfless sacrifice towards others.

Good order is a sign that a community is working to achieve the goals it has set for itself. When order is absent or disrupted, not only are individuals harmed, but the community suffers too. To achieve these goals, RAKMHSU has a code of conduct which promotes the well-being of individuals and groups who make up the community. This is to facilitate fostering community in two ways. These are:

- First, it encourages a sense of the common good among members of the community by setting standards of behavior that appropriately reflect the character and purpose of RAKMHSU.
- Second, it establishes a system to be used when someone compromises those standards in any way that undermines the common good.

Rules and regulations provide the basis for a reasonably ordered life. The mere observance of rules, however, without the cooperation and personal appropriation of the values they protect, falls short of what RAKMHSU hopes for everyone who is part of the community.

Honesty, integrity, responsibility, and respect for persons and property, especially property belonging to the university, characterize members of the RAKMHSU community. Acting against these values diminishes the understanding of community. Such action, because of the injury it does to the community, shall be taken seriously and handled fairly yet firmly.

9.2 Student Academic and Professional Integrity

RAKMHSU is an academic community devoted to the pursuit of knowledge. Academic integrity is fundamental to this endeavor.

All members of the RAKMHSU community share the responsibility for maintaining the academic standards and reputation of the university. As a member of the university community, academic honesty is a condition for continued membership which prohibits lying, cheating, fabricating, vandalism or stealing.

All members of the university community have a responsibility to ensure that they themselves, and others, are familiar with generally accepted standards and requirements of academic integrity.

The following guidelines outline the University guide to student behavior:

- No student of the university community shall be deprived of academic freedom, personal rights and liberties without due and fair processes of the applicable university regulation.
- No disciplinary sanctions may be imposed upon any student without following fair and due process.
- Each student has a duty to understand the rules and regulations set forth by the university. Ignorance of a rule or regulation shall not be an acceptable defense.
- Students shall maintain a record of good conduct and behavior at all times.
- Students shall respect all religions and beliefs and refrain from acting in any manner offensive to the religious and cultural sentiments of others.

9.4 Student Disciplinary Policies and Procedures

The student disciplinary policies and procedures emphasize the university's obligation to promote personal freedom, maturity, and responsibility of students. RAKMHSU has a special set of interests and purposes essential to its effective functioning.

These include:

- The opportunity for students to attain their educational objectives;
- The creation and maintenance of an intellectual and educational atmosphere throughout the university; and
- The protection of health, safety, welfare, and property of all members of the university, and the property of the university itself.

The student disciplinary policies and procedures set forth those acts which constitute unacceptable conduct for students of the university. All alleged violations of the student disciplinary policies and procedures may result in referral to the Disciplinary Committee constituted by the President as and when the need arises.

The university reserves the rights, to review any action taken by civil authorities regarding students. It also has the obligation to introduce counseling and/or disciplinary action if the student's conduct has interfered with the university's exercise of its educational objectives or responsibilities to its members.

A student admitted to RAKMHSU accepts the responsibility to conform to all university rules and regulations. Proven failure to meet this obligation will justify appropriate disciplinary actions including, but not limited to, reprimand, disciplinary probation, suspension or expulsion, refer 9.4.7 in this book.

The following acts are defined by the university to be unacceptable.
